Hope everyone is enjoying a relaxing and refreshing summer! As always I appreciate your comments and questions so keep them coming.

ScholarOne Updates and Reminders

When uploading a manuscript please submit it as a Word document. Even though the pdf will be accepted, it cannot be opened by many computer systems. Once a document is submitted in Word, the ScholarOne system will convert it to an html and a pdf document in which everyone's system should be able to open.

When you have uploaded your completed documents into ScholarOne, remember to save after every new page. The system keeps track of what is missing and won't let you submit until all of the bells and whistles have been entered and checked.

Have a new affiliation, job title or university? Congratulations! Please update your account and remember to supply ScholarOne with your current e-mail address so that we may contact you.

Feeling overwhelmed or confused in ScholarOne? Help is just a click away. In the upper right-hand corner of the page, just click the Get Help Now button when you need some assistance or you can contact me at the editorial office.
