What's New with ScholarOne Manuscripts?

This past quarter ScholarOne has made some updates and changes to our JNE pages. If you have not been on the webpage lately, please go take a look. Also new for peer reviewers, once an acceptance to invites has been made, you now have the option to request an extension to the initial 21 days. The extension is for another two weeks which should facilitate ample time for a more thorough review. I ask that reviewers make use of this feature by letting me know after your first reminder email that you might need more time. I also would like reviewers to advise that if after they accept the manuscript to find out that they cannot review it for whatever reason, let me know as well. The sooner I am informed, the quicker the manuscript can be reassigned.
